Color Palette.

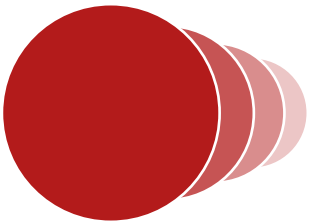

Primary Color System

CTI's primary color palette is based on University Communication's brand colors to reflect our visual connection to Cornell. Moreover, it was designed to provide cohesive branding across all forms of communication. Our primary colors are the foundation of our brand, and the secondary colors highlight and complement the primary colors.

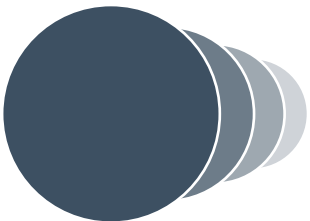

When using the CTI's color palette, it is important to blend these colors with judicious use of white space to maintain an overall sense of harmony, balance, and consistency.

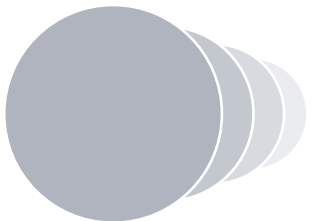

CTI Blue

Secondary Color System

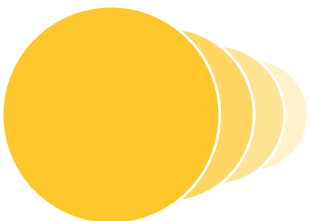

Our secondary colors are inspired by the university's secondary palette. They are intended to accent the primary color palette. Use them sparingly, to support and compliment, not compete with, the primary color palette.

Getting Started in Kaltura

Using Kaltura, you can upload and share videos (including Zoom recordings) with students in your Canvas course. You don't need to set up an account, it is automatically available to you in Canvas. This method of sharing video is FERPA compliant. These videos do not count against your Canvas file limit, and they are available in perpetuity.

To get started, follow the instructions on this page. (Download a pdf version of these instructions.)

Jump to a section by clicking below:

- Add the My Media Link in Course Navigation
- Add a Video to a Course through Kaltura

Accessibility tips when using videos:

- Write a script before recording, and add a link to it below the video.
- Use videos under 10 minutes.
- Verbally describe any images or props you show in the video or include textual descriptions.

This is only necessary if you need to edit a video or the information about a video. If you are simply adding videos to Canvas, you can skip this process. This process is not needed if My Media is already available in the Course Navigation to the left.

1. Within your course, click the Settings link at the bottom of the Course Navigation menu on the left.
2. Click the Navigation tab in the top middle of the page.
3. Drag and drop My Media from the bottom list to the top list. (Alternatively, you can click the three dots next to My Media and choose Enable.)
4. Click the Save button at the bottom.

Drag and drop items to reorder them in the course navigation.

Before getting started, you will need a video that is already in Kaltura or a video on your device that you can add to Kaltura.

1. Within your course, click the Modules link in the Course Navigation menu on the left.
2. Click + Module to create a new module to which to add a video or go to an existing module.

Use secondary colors to accent the primary palette. The primary color is still dominant on the page, but the secondary color is used in combination to draw the users attention

Differences from Blackboard

Before starting the migration process, it's recommended you read about some of the differences between Blackboard and Canvas. For information on differences between specific tools in Blackboard and Canvas, see the pages linked below:

- Announcements
- Assignments
- Banner vs. Course Image

Announcements

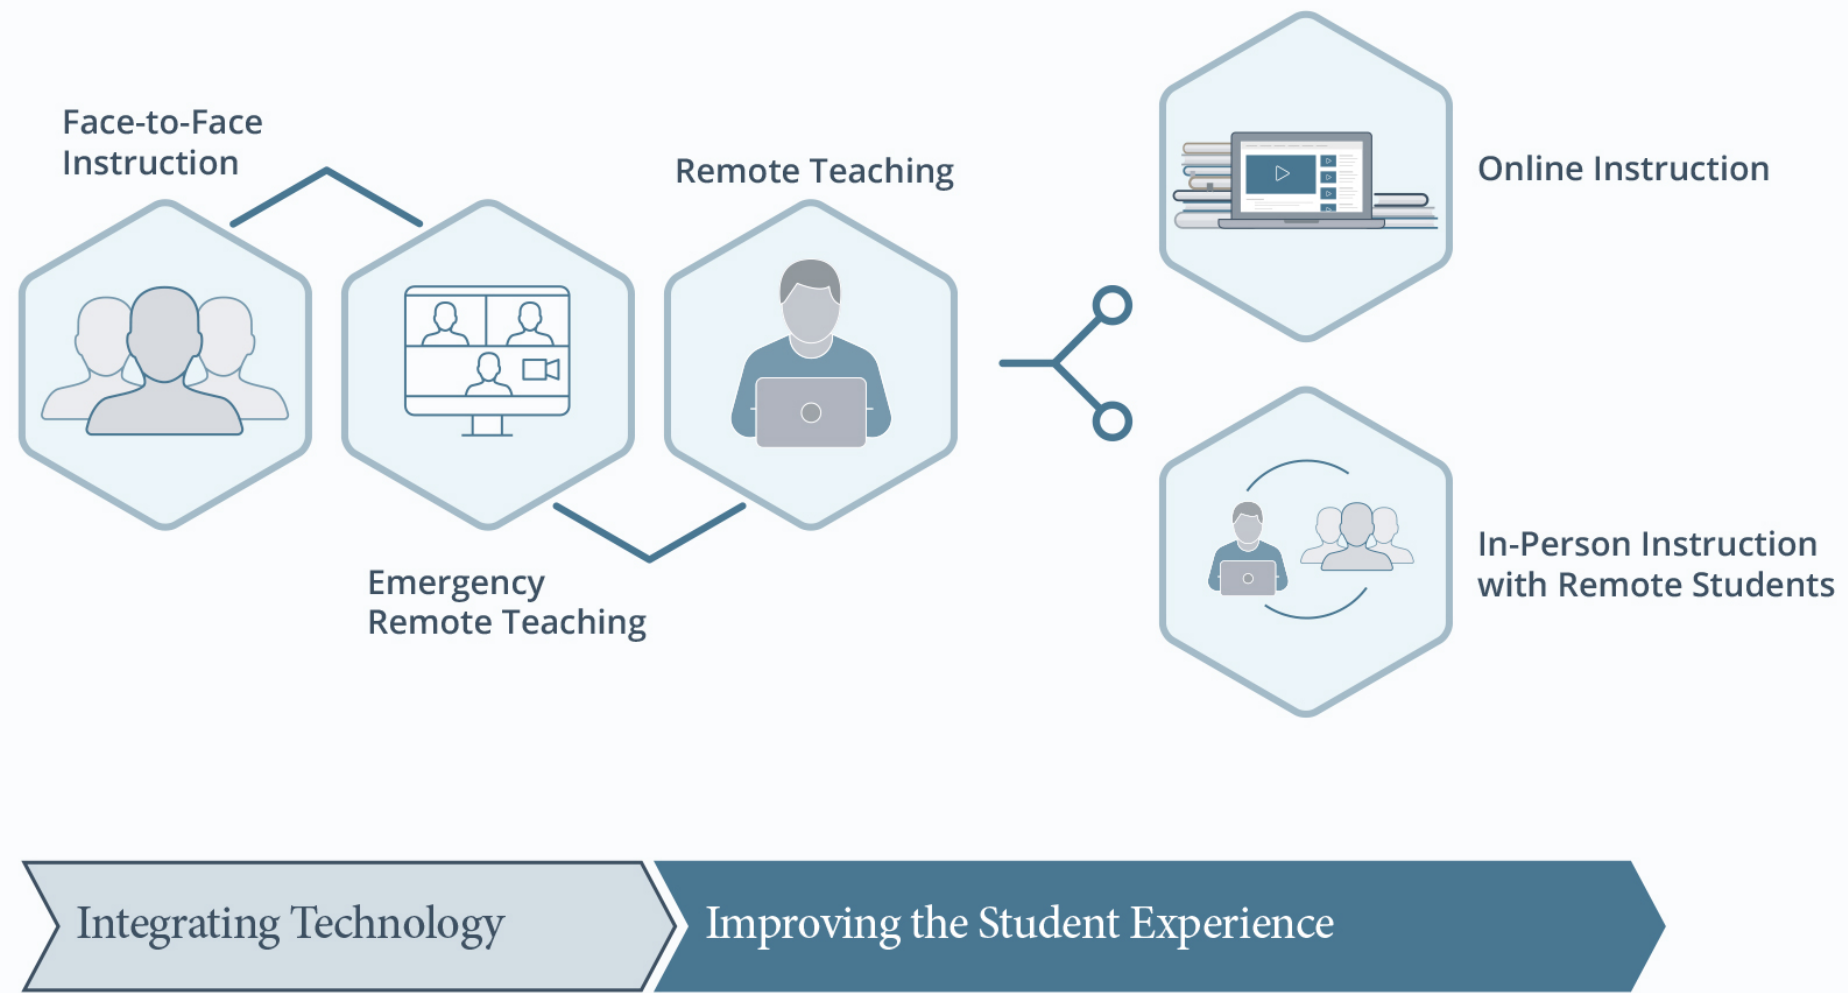

While Blackboard and Canvas offer similar Announcements features and experiences, there are some key differences to understand when moving to Canvas.

Functionality Gained in Canvas	Functionality Lost in Canvas
• Users can receive notifications via Facebook, Twitter, email, and text, but they will need to set these notifications within Notification Settings (found under Account in Global Navigation). • You can allow students to comment and reply on announcements. (You can also turn this function off.) • You can add RSS feeds to your announcements. • New announcements show in the Dashboard. • Attachments are not limited to files which have already been uploaded to Canvas.	• You cannot reorganize the order of announcements without using the Delay Posting option. • You cannot pin an important announcement to the top of the Announcements feed.

Q. How do I use complete and incomplete grades in Canvas?

A. Complete/Incomplete grading in Canvas can be entered via SpeedGrader and Gradebook. Grading states include: Ungraded, Complete, Incomplete, and Excused.

Use the primary palette for most use cases and add secondary colors only when needed.
